Beloved in Christ Jesus, may the peace and Love of God be with you through Our Lord Jesus. Amen.

“The heart is deceitful above all things.
And desperately wicked; who can know it?”

JEREMIAH 17:9 (KJ)

Hard situations reveal real character. Today I want you to realize this; The heart is deceitful above all things. And desperately wicked; who can know it? Jeremiah 17:9.

To know real believers is by their faith in crises periods. Hard situations reveal people's real character and strength. It goes to prove whether they are faking their Christian faith or not.

Anybody can shout Praise the Lord; our GOD is good; when the going is good. But let there be a little change in expectations and situations, you will be shocked to discover how quickly people can forget and deny God. You will see them doubting both the ability and the existence of God. They will talk bad about the Prophet God sent to help them out of their problems. Some will even be thinking that it would have been better to remain as unbelievers. Some will want to go back to where—and to go back to the things God had already delivered them from, not minding they cried to God for a long time for that deliverance.

All these happened because of their poor knowledge in God. They think that if God is with them, they will not have any problems. If the man of God is a man of God indeed, all should have been just fine and there will be, --no this, there will be, --no that. So, they think the man of God is their problem, so they go seeking for all kinds of help which most often, compounds their problems.

Instead of complaining, thank God for the miracles of the past and those of the present including waking you up this morning. Some wanted you dead, but God woke you up because He loves you and wants to fulfill His promises in your life.

Moses said, praise God, the Egyptians you see today, you will see no more. Look at that confidence? It is because he knew what they did not know. He had revelation and he was walking in it. When you are walking in revelation, nobody and nothing can stop you, unless you stop yourself by disobedience to the Word of God. Moses knew that because God was with them, neither the Red Sea nor Pharaoh nor the negative confession of the children of Israel could stop them. I say, "You will cross that Red Sea. You will celebrate your crossover in Jesus Name. Amen."

We have started your 32 days dry fasting and prayer, and God has assured us victory at the end, so try your possible best to abide with the Word of God and do all we directed to do as regarding it. "It is well," said the Lord of Hosts....

God bless you.

Yours in Christ
